

indelabilityarts

Morrigan Moore : Artist

Morrigan is a one-woman workshop. Gaining a bachelor's degree in Creative Industries 2008, she began writing and drawing comics. Writer's thought she was too artsy and artists found her obtrusively verbose. This led to her pursuing every creative discipline she could get her hands on while proclaiming that everything we make is art and all art tells a story.

Her story now takes her to Indelability Arts, where she hopes to develop her skills in gadgetry and practical special effects. Phoenix Ensemble's 2023 production of Addams' Family: A Musical Comedy, allowed her to begin experimenting with animatronics and prop making, thus a mad scientist was born.

She now enjoys being the geek at the queer table or the queer at the geek table, as she advocates for LGBTQIA+ and neurodiversity.

*Photo by Maddie Purdon